

The 3rd IABSE Young Engineers Colloquium in East Asia

January 19-20, 2024
Seoul, Korea

Organized by
Korean, Chinese, Japanese and Hong Kong group of IABSE

MESSAGE FROM THE ORGANIZERS

The IABSE Korean Group is excited to invited you to the 3rd Young Engineers Colloquium in East Asia which will be held from January 19-20 in Seoul, Korea. The goal of this colloquium is to help young structural engineers (under the age of 40) in East Asia make friends, learn from each other and develop their professional career together. It aims to offer a platform to present their researches, projects and innovative design ideas.

Program

The following three main programs are scheduled over two days. These programs are expected to facilitated lively, in-depth discussions between young researchers and field practitioners

I. Team design competition: Young engineers will design urban structures in waterfront spaces within the scope given and present their ideas. The design sites and the related information are provided in separate documents. The international experts from the IABSE national groups will evaluate the submitted designs.

II. Presentation of researches and projects: Young engineers can present research papers on any topic in structural engineering including PhD and MS studies. They can also present construction projects of any kind of structures. The presentation will be made verbally.

III. Social activities: For participants, there will be a campus tour and a colloquium dinner arranged. The campus tour includes Extreme Performance Testing Center(ETPC), SNU Museum of Art and SNU Library

Registration

Young engineers in any country can make presentations and participate in the design competition. Not only young engineers but also senior engineers are expected to participate in this colloquium and are welcome. Registration fee is 160,000 KRW (About 120 USD). This registration fee includes proceedings, lunch and the colloquium dinner.
